

About UKASP

Welcome to the UKASP website.

UKASP was formed in order to represent the security industry and to help drive up the quality and professionalism of the sector within the UK. The aim is to create an all-inclusive trade association that can successfully represent the views of the industry to the necessary Government departments and other industry stakeholders.

The idea of a truly effective and well respected trade association had been discussed by a number of people within the security industry for some time. In 2006, the decision to formalise the UK Association for Security Professionals was taken.

To join UKASP please go the membership page.