

UKASP

A key focus for UKASP members during the coming months will be to produce a working code of practice for the membership to abide by. UKASP members are aware that the security industry has received some negative press in recent years. The UKASP membership is committed to improving the reputation of the industry by complying with the highest regulatory standards. UKASP believes that the formation of a trade association code of practice will help bind the membership together under the same principles of professionalism. If you wish to become involved in forming the code of practice, please contact the UKASP Secretariat.
